EX-MINISTERS OF FINANCE GOT MILLIONS, TUNG SHOWS

Pan Fu, One Of Accused, Is In Shanghai, Belief

REPORTS READY

Efforts Now Under Way To Arrest Absent Officials

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, April 12.—Tung Kang, chairman of the loans investigation committee, has just completed the first two reports of the investigation into the Ministry of Finance the first of which states that the ex Minister of Finance and the present Minister of Finance, Pan Fu, and Chang Hu, along with several others are guilty of misappropriating several millions of the peoples money. The exact details of this report have not yet been made public by the President.

The procurators have been furnished with evidence of guilt and are now attempting to arrest the indicted officials. Pan Fu has taken refuge in Shanghai, it is said while the report of Chang Hu's return to Peking has been confirmed. He is now in the Yamen of General Chang Ching-hui, who is Chang Tso-lin's representative in Peking.

BLOCKED BY BAYONETS

The police under the instruction of the procurators attempted to arrest the indicted minister, but were prevented from entering the Yamen by General Chang's soldiers, according to report. Tung Kang's advice was requested upon this matter. The latter instructed them to behave in an orderly fashion and avoid all clashes with the soldiers. Detectives and a special cordon of police have been thrown around the Yamen to prevent his escape. No confirmation could be obtained of the report that the President had withdrawn his support from Tung Kang. The matter, however, has come to a decisive point.

The second report deals with the findings of the commission with respect to the present loan status and recommends that new securities should be issued on the security of the salt surplus, that foreign and domestic issues should be placed upon the same basis, that a definite rule of procedure should be adopted and that a reasonable rate of interest be fixed. It is alleged that there is much confusion in the issuing of the various bonds and that in many cases, particularly those with some of the Chinese banks, the interest and the discount required a surrender of more than 50 percent of the principle.

The report urges the punishment of the profiteers, complains of the unwillingness of the Ministry of Finance to co-operate in the investigation, thereby making necessary the organisation of an office for the commision.

The Chinese papers yesterday were filled with reports of Tung Kang's flight in view of the hostility of Chang Tso-lin's troops. A special representative of the Chung Mei Agency called at Tung Kang's house to confirm this rumor and was received by Tung Kang himself.

"I am still here you see." said Mr. Tung, "and I am going ahead as long as the president does not relieve me."

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, April 10.—A report received today states that Tung Kang has petitioned the President to issue a mandate divesting Chang Hu of his portfolio of finance so that he may be tried for malpractice while in office. One of the specific charges against Chang Hu is that he accepted a bribe of $30,000 from the Tah-chung Bank for giving permission to issue notes. Tung Kang's statement is recorded as follows.

During his term of office as Superintendent of the Currency Bureau, Chang Hu gave permission to the Tah-chung Bank to issue notes in violation of the law concerning the required reserves to be on hand. The resources of the Tah-chung Bank were inadequate.

The accounts of the Tah-chung Bank show that Chang Hu received $30,000 of shares of the B without making any payment for them which was the equivalent of having received a bribe.

The Salt Treasury Bonds were issued without the approval of the cabinet.

Has Her Years Amputated

ON the left is a picture of Mr. A. N. Williamson, the famous English novelist, before she had her face made young. Oblong pieces of skin were cut from above and below her eyes and the bagginess removed. Oblong pieces of skin were removed at each ear just inside the hair, and the extra fullness of her chin drawn in. At the right is Mrs. Williamson after she had defeated the ravages of grief for her husband by facial operations. Her chin is oval instead of square and full, and her eyes are larger, with no bagginess or wrinkles. Mrs. Williamson says she feels twenty years younger and has more confidence and energy.

Youth Who Murdered 27 And Three Of Gang He Led Are Sentenced To Death

Career Of Wong Siau-di As Killer Parallels Those Of Greatest Criminals In All Annals Of Wrongdoing

At the moment that sentences of death were being passed upon Wong Siau-di and three of his band of cut throats in the Mixed Court yesterday the gang leader leaned carefully over the rail of the prisoners' dock so that his mouth came close to the ear of a Chinese detective standing there.

"You can all go to hell," he whispered with a slow smile.

Through the brief space while the judgment was being given the detective stood as expressionless as though he had not heard a word. Then he shifted and whispered to the prisoner.

"You're going to go right away," he said, and he too smiled.

Wong Siau-di is a unique figure. Had yesterday's trial been held in any Western land the ghastly chronicle of his misdeeds would have been told and wondered at over the whole world, for as a killer Wong Siau-di takes rank with the greatest criminals the world has produced, even those of fiction. And his personality is clothed with all those elements that stir popular interest with a dread fascination. As a witness said in the course of yesterday's hearing "he looks like one of these wealthy young Chinese spenders."

TAUNTS HIS CAPTORS

Since his capture he has carried himself with an air of lazy insolence and his greatest enjoyment has been to taunt his captors, particularly the Chinese detectives. Low voiced, suave and garbed with the nicest regard for the Chinese fashion of the hour this boy of twenty-three with his pistol has sent the souls of twenty-seven people hurtling into another world.

Wong Siau-di made a jest of murder. The band that he led, the most desperate that the authorities have had to cope with in Shanghai, lived by robbery, but their leader adopted murder as a pastime. Seemingly he killed for the love of killing and he was as merciless and as indiscriminate as a tiger, for among his many victims were women and children as well as men. He himself explained that it was fortunate that his weapons were not at hand when Inspector Eek and Detectives Sergeants Kilkenny and Isaaca with the assistance of a number of police of the French Settlement arrested him and several of the gangsters.

"Had I been armed," he told them politely after the capture. "Surely I would have sent a few of you at least to join your honorable ancestors."

FULL CONFESSION

Merely upon the condition that certain concessions be made in connection with his living quarters in prison and with his food he agreed to make a full confession of his crimes and in this he kept his word. At the conclusion of his long recital of killings he evidenced a shade of regret.

"Possibly I may have forgotten some of the cases," he said. "It is hard to remember everything."

The hearing was held before American Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Yui. The prosecution was conducted by Mr. R. C. Faithful, police prosecutor and Chief Detective Inspector Eek. Through the trial Wong stood in the prisoners' dock more impassive than any spectator and seemingly slightly bored.

LIST OF CRIMES

Included in the long record of criminal activities of the four men sentenced to death yesterday morning were the murder of two Chinese detectives in a revolver battle on Pakhoi Road last year, the wounding of Inspector John W. Prince at the same time, and the murder of a Chinese police constable at 1063 Tongshan Road a few weeks ago—in all fifteen criminal charges against them within the boundaries of the Settlement. The same gang has an equally bloody record in the French Concession, where four of them have already been sentenced to death, and in Chinese territory. Wong nonchalantly confessed that he had gone to the Shaoshing theater in Chapei, where the robber gang lived for a time, grasped the manager, Kwai Ts-nyoh, by the throat, and fired three shots into his struggling body because Kwai had given information to the police that had resulted in one of the gang being sent to the Arsenal.

In Wong's confession he said he had come to Shanghai a year and a half ago from Shaoshing and that his first crime had been committed at 27 North Chekiang Road, almost in the shadow of the Mixed Court, when he had shot a man and stolen a gold bangle from a

Ike Marcosson, Reporter, Gets A Whole Flock Of Good Items For His Paper

Dr. Gilbert Reid And Hall, On The Peking Beat For The China Press, Hand Him Some First Hand Tips

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Correspondent Of The China Press)

Peking, April 11.—I called in my riding habit; Marcosson, who, out of consideration for the Golden Rule, is the most interviewable of men, received in his kimono. Shortly after, following a telephonic request and invitation, arrived Dr. Gilbert Reid. I had gathered that the telephoner was a young chap named Read, and was visibly surprised to see the old but upstanding man who was deported when China entered the war and who but recently returned to this country.

"Is there another Gilbert Reid in Peking," asked Mr. Marcosson by way of clarifying the situation. "There is only one Gilbert Reid in the world!" said the possessor of that well-known name.

The tall, angular reformer, biting his grey mustache, eased himself, cross-legged, into a chair. Yankee self-assurance is the dominant characteristic of his long, thin face. The narrow, underhanging jaw (conventionally called—why, I cannot imagine—"lantern") puts the mark of positivism on the visionary features above.

Opposite him sat, knees apart, the great reporter, with his square jaw, rather square face, square shoulders and generally solid construction giving as great an impression of a cube as Dr. Gilbert Reid gives of a line.

THE OLD QUERY

"And how long have you been in China, Doctor?" asked Marcosson. He starts out, at least, with the conventional question of all tourists. His originality lies more in his truthfulness and cautiousness than his piquancy. Any one who is truthful and cautious in this age is, indeed, different; and particularly so in China.

The Doctor was well under way on a description of his place in the scheme of salvation for the Chinese race when the question reached him. "I, in China?—About two months—"

I demurred.

"Oh, you mean, how long have I been among the Chinese people?" The man who calls himself the International Institute rolled the answer over his tongue like a delicious morsel before he let it out. "About forty years," he said, looking over his glasses at Marcosson.

The journalist was visibly affected. "Aside from your theories, Doctor," he suggested, "I should think that your residence among and knowledge of the people would give you great influence. What do you think is coming in China?" Even Marcosson can succumb to the impulse to ask so trite and impossible a question.

The reformer hardly acknowledged the interruption. He had something to "put across," although he proceeded very deliberately. "I pay no attention to these political effervescences. My line is to appeal to the better instinct in all classes. Here and there men of finer moral sensibilities drop out of political life in disgust.

SALT OF THE EARTH

"They are the salt of the earth. I visit them and encourage them to engage in social and moral reform. For practical purposes I divide my audience into four classes: Educational, who are relatively easy to reach; Religious—I am the only man who has been able to gather in conference leaders of the five great religions for discussion of mutual cooperation—; Merchant and Official. The last are the most difficult to reach. But they have certain altruistic impulses which can be appealed to and strengthened. No new political scheme is needed. All that is necessary is to get the leaders and chieftains to drop their personal ambitions and unite under the constitution of the First Year of the Republic, which is adequate enough. This is what I preach to them."

"A considerable undertaking, Doctor," I said under my breath, and got a significant look from Marcosson.

"I take it, Doctor," said Marcosson, struggling with the knots in his suspenders, "that you are an optimist." Dr. Reid ultimately admitted that in some respects he might be called that. "And do you get any response to your appeal to the Chinese to love their country?"

"At least," replied the Doctor dryly, "they cannot take issue with me."

"Really," said Marcosson, addressing us both, "is there any patriotism in China?"

"Race patriotism," I replied. "Nationalism, you must remember, has never been a great factor in the life of the Chinese. But he knows, above all things, that he is a Chinese, and he fervently believes that he belongs to the most superior race on earth, which is as it should be. This race-consciousness is absolute assurance of China's preservation. It is the most powerful thing about her."

"Is that true!" exclaimed Marcosson with evident surprise and interest.

"And did you think that the white man is the only species of human being who is not ashamed of himself?" I asked. "Don't mistake the Oriental's courtesy for self-depreciation."

Gilbert Reid seemed bored. "While you were in Europe writing up the downfall of the human race—" he began. Marcosson turned from the mirror with a collar-button in his mouth.

THE PROSTRATE RACE

"Downfall of the human race is right, doctor," he said, "and it has fallen pretty far down, too. It is

12 LOCAL BODIES WILL HONOR MOTT AND HIS PARTY

Huge Banquet Is Arranged For Christian Delegates On April 24

Twelve organisations will be hosts at a dinner to be given on Monday, April 24, at 7.30 o'clock at the Great Eastern Hotel in honor of delegates to the World's Christian Students' Movement, now in session at Peking, headed by Dr. John R. Mott. Plans are being made for the accommodation of between 400 and 500 guests at the banquet.

Dr. Mott will deliver the principal address, while other members of the delegation will say a few words of greeting. Dr. David Z. T. Yui, people's delegate to the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armaments, will act as toastmaster. A musical program will alternate with the speeches.

The organisations under whose auspices the dinner will be given are the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., the American Returned Students' Club, the American University Club, the College Club, the Pan-Pacific Association, the Women's Returned Students' Club, the Shanghai Women's Club, the World's Chinese Students' Federation, the Business Women's Club and the Associated Alumnae Christian Association.

The dinner is open to the public. But tickets of admission must be secured before hand from the committee, headed by Mr. George A. Fitch, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., 120 Szechuen Road.

Perhaps the most picturesque member of the visiting party is Miss Ruth M. Muskrat, who is an American Indian girl and an undergraduate of Kansas University. She is a member of the Cherokee tribe, one of the best known tribes of the race in America and one which has preserved its own language and form of Government. Miss Muskrat has been actively in touch with Y.W.C.A. work both in college and in connection with community work in her vacation times.

Miss K. B. George is representing the National Students' Department of the Y.W.C.A. at the Peking Conference. She is a Mississippian and since graduation from college has held various student positions in the Y.W.C.A. She acted as metropolitan student secretary in Boston and later as secretary for foreign students on the national staff of the Y.W.C.A. in New York. During the present year, Miss George has been on leave of absence for a year's study in the London School of Economics from which she has journeyed to attend the conference.

Mr. Alexander Nikitin is representative from Russia and Miss Janet Maclay from Great Britain. There will also be Chinese delegates from Canton, Fokien, Swatow, Ningpo, Kashing, Hangchow, Hongkong, Amoy and other cities and provinces of China. The delegates are expected to arrive here on April 21.

Doctor Commits Forgery And Goes To Jail To Study Criminals

FAILING to obtain incarceration as a pretended prisoner to carry on his studies of criminals, Dr. James J. Finley, according to Los Angeles friends, deliberately committed forgery and welcomed his sentence to the Los Angeles County Jail to await the determination of his case. Dr. Finley is held on the charge of forging a check for $210, and he has turned the County Jail into what one Los Angeles Judge calls "Dr. Finley's Sanitarium." Dr. Finley, who is said to be an instructor at the University of Baltimore and St. Mary's College, Oakland, California, pleaded guilty to the forgery charge. He has long been interested in criminology, according to his friends. The photo shows Dr. Finley making an experiment with a negro prisoner in the Los Angeles County Jail.

Japan Sees Prince's Visit As Beginning Of New Era In Nations' Friendship

Newspapers Think Good Result Achieved By Alliance Will Be Prolonged—Renown's Sailors Entertained

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 13.—The officers and men of the Renown and the Durban were entertained by the Yokohama Municipality to luncheon and a garden party today. Four hundred Japanese officers and sailors were also present. Mayor Kubota proposed the toast of the British Navy. Captain Mead replied.

Tokio, April 13.—Rear-Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey has been decorated with the Grand Cordon, and Sir Charles Eliot, British Ambassador at Tokio, with the first class order of the Rising Sun, and other members of the Prince of Wales' suite and members of the British Embassy have received decorations or gifts.

The Prince of Wales after an early start received addresses from the President of the House of Peers and from the Lower House at the Palace.

His Royal Highness visited the Imperial University where he received an address and afterwards lunched with the Prince Regent.

This afternoon thousands of school children will mass in front of the Akasaka Palace and will sing God Save the King which the Prince, standing on the balcony, will acknowledge.

TO ATTEND RECEPTION

Later His Royal Highness will attend a reception for Japanese officials at the British Embassy and will dine with Prince Higashi Fushimi, after which there will be a gigantic lantern procession in which it is said that 25,000 people will participate.

Tokio, April 12.—With the thunder of the welcome accorded him on his arrival in Yokohama still ringing in his ears, the Prince of Wales, aboard the special train built for his special use while in this country, arrived in Tokio. The journey from Yokohama to Tokio was one continuous ovation, and the members of the party accompanying His Royal Highness were at a loss to know where Yokohama ended and Tokio began.

Every station platform was crowded and the fences along the railway were lined with masses of people who wished to see the Prince from the Occident, who had so royally entertained their own Prince Regent in England a short time ago. The traditional silence and bowed head as Royalty passed was once again shattered today, and cheer after cheer broke from the vast crowds.

The crowds gathered outside the main station in Tokio were perhaps the largest ever seen in the capital. Viewed from the upper storey of the station, it was one vast sea of humanity. The buildings were completely covered with flags the Union Jack even acting as a substitute for the window blinds, which, in accordance with an ancient custom, must be drawn when Royalty is passing.

Within the station, the arrival platform had been cleared half an hour prior to the arrival of the incoming royal train. The platform was covered with a red carpet in its entire length from the Prince of Wales' carriage. Opposite the incoming train, an Imperial guard of honor was drawn up.

ADMIRAL TOGO THERE

Immediately fronting the Prince's carriage stood the highest naval and military officers in full uniform, the most notable figure among them being Admiral Togo, wearing cordons. In front of these were the entire cabinet, including the Premier. Fifteen minutes prior to the arrival of the train, the Prince Regent entered the station, preceded by his chamberlains and followed by five Princes, including Prince Yi of Korea, while the band played the Japanese National anthem. At one end of the platform, near the stopping place members of the British League of Tokio and prominent British residents were massed.

It was a dramatic moment for the onlooker when the Prince of Wales stepped from his car to the platform and shook hands with the Prince Regent. Since last they met there had descended on the shoulders of Prince Hirohito the mantle of responsibility for the government of sixty millions of people, and it was evident to all that he was wearing his new dignity well.

GUNS BOOM SALUTE

After the formal greetings and introductions were over, the Royal party moved towards the exit and the open carriages awaiting them. The Imperial Guards snapped to attention as the Princes appeared and the smart cavalry escort completed the line of soldiers paying a soldier's respect to one of the men who did his bit in the world war. Somewhere in the distance the artillery boomed out the royal salute, and the finest bands in the empire played the British and Japanese national authems.

Right before the station entrance was erected a mammoth arch of evergreen, dotted with the colors of Britain and Japan and thousands of bright and vari-colored lights. Even the steel skeletons of the large buildings now being erected in the

LLOYD GEORGE PROPOSES TEN YEAR TERM FOR PEACE

Little Entente Want Guarantees Before Signing

SOVIET PLEASED

Delegate Gives Facts On Moscow Situation

(Reuter's Service)

Genoa, April 13.—The duration of Mr. Lloyd George's proposed peace pact will be ten years.

The members of the little entente have decided that they must secure certain guarantees before they will adhere to the proposed pact.

Speaking at a meeting of the Finance sub-committee, M. Rakovski (Russia) stated that the London experts' report mainly corresponded with the wishes of the Soviet Government, notably the discontinuance of the issue of paper-money. He affirmed that at present all but one-seventh of the Soviet budget deficit had been covered. He said that the number of State officials had been reduced by 40 percent. The Soviet Army stood at 1,500,000 men on January 1, 1922. M. Rakovski declared that disarmament was necessary for the amelioration of the world's finance.

Genoa, April 12.—Mr. Lloyd George will propose at the Genoa Conference at the earliest opportunity, that an understanding should be reached that no nation will attack another, thus abolishing the possibility of fighting for the duration of the pact. The acceptance of such a proposal may be the turning point in the world's history.

GERMANY HOPEFUL

London, April 12.—It is reported from Berlin that Germany's scepticism with regard to the Genoa Conference has been succeeded by buoyant optimism, which is reflected in the improvement of the exchanges.

German correspondents at Genoa declare that Mr. Lloyd George has assumed the leadership of the Conference, and has skilfully alienated the Russians from the French, who have suffered a moral defeat similar to that at the Washington Conference.

Genoa, April 12.—The Economic Commission has elected M. Colrat, French Under Secretary of State, as Chairman.

It has also appointed a sub-committee of twelve members, including representatives of the five convening Powers, and Russia, Germany and Holland.

ALL SATISFIED

The conclusion of the first days practical business was marked with expressions of satisfaction by the participants. The squabbles amongst the members of the Number One Commission were succeeded by a friendly atmosphere, subsequent to the meeting of its drafting sub-committe, the constitution of which caused trouble during the Commissions debates.

This sub-committee, which promises to replace the Supreme Council as an arbiter of the destinies of Europe, numbers eleven and is composed as follows:—

Signor Schanzer (Italy), Chairman, Mr. Lloyd George (Great Britain), M. Barthou (France), M. Theunis (Belgium), Viscount Ishii (Japan), Dr. Wirth (Germany), M. Chicherin (Russia), M. Motta (Switzerland), M. Branting (Sweden), M. Brantiano (Rumania), M. Skirmunt (Poland).

(China Press Service)

Genoa, April 12.—The report of the congress of Allied experts which met at London recently was placed on the program for the restoration of Russia and Europe. The report was marked confidential and was handed to Chicherin who asked that he be given until Thursday to study the report.

He declared that Russia depends largely on assistance from foreign enterprise and capital, but that unless conditions were profoundly changed, foreigners will refuse to resume trade relations.

Article I, Chapter I of the report declares that the Soviet government should assume obligations imperative upon provisional governments.

Article II provides for the recognition by the Soviet government of the financial engagements of all Russian authorities including local and provincial.

Article III declares that the Soviet government should assume the responsibility of damage suffered by foreigners through acts of negligence on the part of the Soviet government.

Other articles provide that the debts commission upon which the Russians will be represented, and arbitration tribunals will determine the amount and methods of funding Russia's debts.

The report was later distributed to the subcommittee on Russia which adjourned until Thursday.

down pretty flat on its back." (Marcosson had just heard of the assassination of Professor Miliukov in Germany, whom he esteemed highly.) "Dreamed of liberty for twenty years, then saw everything go to pieces in the Bolshevik revolution, and now assassinated. The world is crazy!" he said. "But the old man died like a hero."

Doctor Reid began again. "While you were in Europe I was the center of attention of eight governments. I think I can boast of being the only man who ever had eight governments lined up against him."

"No," corrected the Doctor, "at the request of the Chinese Government, under the pressure of eight Ministers, among them my own. And only a few days previously that government had honored me upon my sixtieth birthday by ranking me with Buddha and the sages."

"I should say," observed Marcosson, "that you could consider yourself as the recipient of most signal honor—I refer not to the 'ranking' but to the fact that you were considered undesirable by eight governments. That, indeed, is a claim to distinction."

"Of course," continued Reid, "the Hun can be forgiven. But he who was friendly to the Hun, never. I was not in the ordinary sense pacifist, nor traitor. I insisted upon my right to maintain my relations with German friends. And I insisted that the scrapping factions of the white race had no right to bring their difficulties out here, nor through the agency of Japan to project their struggle onto Asiatic soil. I told the Chinese that China would be unwise to enter the war. Some Chinese friends of mine differ with me yet, but most of them admit that I was right."

AN ORIENTAL TRAIT

"I should think they would!" remarked Marcosson. "China's entry into the war cost her dearly, did it not?"

"With an Oriental," observed Reid, "one may differ and still be friends. Not so with an Anglo-Saxon or Latin. I have been back two months. Of course, the foreign community here regard me askance. I don't bother with them. I need no Legation assistance to meet the men I wish to see. I merely write directly to the various Tuchuns, governors and educationists, offering my course of lectures if they want them. I have just been to Central China and Shansi and lectured in the Peking National University. I am now leaving for Shantung, Nanking and Shanghai. —By the way, who is the acting editor of the Saturday Evening Post now?"

Marcosson exploded. "There is no acting editor on the Post. The Post is run by one man, Horace G. Lorimer, and he is unlimited despot, supreme tyrant, and super-tuchun. He is one of the greatest characters in the world. Even more than Lord Northcliffe, he knows what the people want. You remember Lincoln (Marcosson quotes Lincoln continuously, and, like all visiting writers who are unaware of any way to look for the national salvation of China on other than Occidental lines, would like to find a budding Lincoln here) said: 'The most powerful thing in the world next to the Mississippi River is the London Times.' (The inference was clear that it is now the Saturday Evening Post.)

"The Post," remarked the Doctor casually, "depends upon two or three writers for all its serious stuff."

"I have that constantly thrown up at me, and I will answer it," said Marcosson. The Post can't allow itself to be fooled, or victimised by propaganda or eccentric viewpoints. It sends out men whose antecedents it knows, to cover things."

"Yet," I suggested, "there is no magazine as quick as the Post to pick up a new writer if he will give the Post what the Post wants."

CHANCE FOR NEWCOMER

"That's it," seized Marcosson. "It does not matter how insignificant or unknown the writer may be, if he will give the Post what it wants, the Post will take it.—"

"—on condition that he write it six-thousand words long so that it will 'carry' the requisite number of advertisement," I added.

"Well, I have written articles of twelve-thousand," said Marcosson.

"And the Post, of course, is the Magazine of Mediocrity?" I asked.

"Not unless popularity is mediocrity," shot back Marcosson. "The one answer to all criticism of the Post is its success;—but, I admit, I never read the Post, except to see what is in it. I never read my own stuff after it is published, be it in magazine or book form." (I wished to say that material success is not always an answer to criticism.)

"I'll be moving along," said the Doctor, and went out. He left some pamphlets with Marcosson.

"An eccentric, some say, but a most interesting one, I volunteered.

"Oh, yes, but an unlifter. A man with a cause. I'm sick of men with causes. I never ran into so much propaganda in my life. Every Tuchun appears to have his private propaganda agent. Every foreign resident has his own particular favorite militarist or politician. I used to think, and I have written, that propaganda as conducted in Europe was something to make the mind marvel. Let me tell you right now, the Europeans are babes and suckling compared to the Chinese when it comes to propaganda."

Marcosson, by the way, had just returned from Tientsin, where he spent an "interesting two hours" with Liang Shih-yi, but apparently got very little.

I noted that I was under suspicion. "I am detested," I declaimed dramatically. "by every political faction in China today. I am out with them all."

"That," said Marcosson, "is the best thing you have told me about yourself thus far."

And there you are!

Japan Sees New Friendship

Marunouchi district were decorated with the flags of Britain and Japan, and the noise of the rivet drivers was stilled for the day. Tokio was on holiday and practically every one of her 2,000,000 people was out to greet the royal visitor.

As the procession passed in brilliant sunshine, up the broad road leading to the Imperial Palace, in order that His Royal Highness might first of all pay his respects to Her Majesty, the Empress, the Royal Guest was received with a tumult of cheers from the crowds that were massed on the adjoining lawns. The entire scene was most inspiring.

THOUSANDS LINE ROUTE

The vast exterior Palace grounds were massed with people, and the immediate route was lined with soldiery, behind whom were tens of thousands of university students as well as along the route to the Akasaka Palace, a distance of about a mile.

At the entrance to the Akasaka Palace was another welcome arch and here, too, soldiers of the Imperial Guards were drawn up to greet the visitor. The Prince was received with tremendous salvos of cheering until he disappeared within his Tokio residence.

While in Tokio, the Prince of Wales will occupy the palace modelled on that of Versailles and erected as a residence for the present Emperor while he was Crown Prince. Adjoining it is the Aoyama Detached Palace, which at one time was the residence of the present Prince Regent. The grounds about the two palaces are most beautiful and at this time of the year the trees are laden with a profusion of cherry and other blossoms.

HERE CITY IS FORGOTTEN

Beneath arched trees of almost every description, past miniature lakes, beside dwarfed trees and shrubs and beds of fragrant flowers, wind perfectly kept driveways and paths. The thundering noise of the city does not reach this spot and what nature has not done to beautify it, the clever hands of gardeners have supplied.

An interesting feature of the ovation given to the Prince was that when the Prince Regent left Imperial Palace alone after the departure of the Prince of Wales the British residents massed nearest to the Palace raised a cheer, which was taken up along the Regent's entire route, contrary to the Japanese custom of silence before Royalty.

Throughout the day, tens of thousands of people lined all the routes taken by the Prince of Wales when paying official calls and remained massed outside the Palace until darkness fell.

In the course of the afternoon, the Prince Regent called on the Prince of Wales and conferred on him the rank of General of the Japanese army.

JAPAN PRESS GREETS PRINCE

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, April 12.—All newspapers throughout the country today publish articles welcoming the Prince of Wales, couched mostly in similar terms, stating that no sooner had the people of Japan heard of the report that His Royal Highness had definitely decided to pay a visit to this country than they began to hope with inexpressible enthusiasm that the advent here of the Prince of Wales would be realised as soon as possible. They lay stress on the fact that through the visit to Japan of the Prince of Wales, the people of Japan are given an opportunity of showing their highest respect to the Royal House of Great Britain. The advent of the Royal visitor in Japan shall meet with the warmest and most enthusiastic welcome on the part of the Japanese people, for it is to be considered a starting-point for making new friendship between Great Britain and Japan.

Mission Dispute Surprises London

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 12.—The fact that the doctrinal controversy in the General Committee of the Church Missionary Society originated in representations from China has occasioned surprise here.

The Morning Post refers to the concern of the Church in China, owing to the radical views of the missionary body in China which led to the formation of the Bible Union of China to uphold the authority of the Bible.

It mentions how the latter body has grown and says that the General Committee of the Church Missionary Society will further consider on July 12 the subject of the Union's request that only missionaries shall be selected who are sound in evangelical faith.

Mr. Percival Yetts, lecturing to the Royal Asiatic Society said that it was the custom to say that Buddhism was decadent, but really it was far from moribund. He declared that its influence was very great in Japan and vital in China. He said that he thought that the influence of Christianity had been very small on Buddhism.

Dr. Thomas, who presided, spoke of the wonderful achievements of Buddhism and of the wonderful phychical developments to which it had led.

Secretary Weeks Welcomes Inquiry

(China Press Service)

Washington, April 12.—Secretary of War Weeks issued a statement replying to yesterday's charges of Representative Johnson. He declared that the War Department was doing everything possible to clear up war contract controversies. He said that cash property amounting to many millions had already been recovered by reauditing.

He declared that if Congress thought that an inquiry was advisable, that the War Department would welcome the opportunity to clear itself.

Over 1,000 Railroad Cars Seized By Wu And Chang

Reports Filed By Tsinpu And Kinhan Railways Show That Warlords Are Commandeering Rolling Stocks

More than one thousand railroad conches have been seized by the warlords of Chihli and Fengtien, Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin, according to the reports filed with the Ministry of Communications by the authorities of the Peking-Hankow and Peking-Mukden railways. Wu has seized 427 cars during the past week, while Chang has commandeered 535 cars.

The freight trains along the Peking-Hankow Railway were suspended as a result of Wu's seizure. Merchants of the cities along the railways have appealed to the Ministry of Communications for extra cars for commercial use.

Communications along the Lunghai Railway has been suspended on account of the seizure of the entire rolling stock by Wu Pei-fu. By means of the cars he acquired along the Kinhan and Lunghai lines, Wu plans to move the 48th bridage of the 24th division, formerly stationed at Yochow, to strategic points along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway before Chang Tso-lin send his Mukden troops to those regions.

The Fengtien and Chiaotung cliques have reached an understanding, whereby Chow Tse-chi may now assume his premiership without hindrance, according to the Dah Tong News Agency. Should Wu oppose the Chow Cabinet, Chang Tso-lin is prepared to resort to arms.

It is reported that a clash has taken place between Wu and General Chao Ti of Honan resulting from Wu's attempt to march his troops through Kaifengfu, the Honan Capital. The Peking Government has wired to both parties for particulars as well as to General Tsao Kun, asking him to avert a catastrophe. Military experts say that if the report of the clash is confirmed, Shantung will side with Chao Ti, because both Shantung Tuchun Tien Chung-yu and Chao Ti had previously asked Tsao Kun to alienate Wu Pei-fu and form an alliance with Chang Tso-lin. Tuchun Yen of Shensi and Tuchun Lu of Kansu are expected to prevent Tuchun Feng Yu-hsiang from giving any active assistance to Wu, while the Fengtien troops will expand their influence along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway.

Premier Chow has insisted that Chang Hu, Minister of Finance, cancels his leave of absence. But in order to appease the animation of Tung Kung, Minister of Justice, he will affix the blame of all financial scandal on Pan Fu, the former Acting Minister of Finance.

U.S. Scientific Expedition To Leave Soon For Six Months' Work In Mongolia

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 10.—The Third siatic Expedition of the Amer- an Museum of Natural History, co-operation with the Amer- an Asiatic Society and Asia agazine, will leave Kalgan on pril 19 for the continuance of work in Mongolia.

During the last six weeks field erations have been conducted various parts of China which ve been extraordinarily suc- sful. All the members of the pedition's staff have now ar- ved in Peking and the final eparations are being made for coming Summer's work.

The personnel consists of enty-five men as follows: Scientific Staff.—Roy Chapman ndrews, Leader and Zoologist; alter Granger, Palaeontologist; harles P. Berkey, Geologist; rederick Morris, Geologist and otographer; J. B. Shackleford nematographer; S. Bayard logate, Motor Transportation ficer; J. Persender, Assistant ansportation Officer, and F. A. rsen, Field Manager.

The Chinese Personnel includes 3 Chinese Taxidermists, 3 oks, 2 Chauffeurs, 3 Mongol terpreters and 6 Camel Drivers

The area comprises Central and d Western Mongolia from a e between Kalgan and Urga, st to Eastern extension of the tai and Tian Shan Mountains d South to the frontier of inese Turkestan. This region, rt of which lies between two d caravan trails, consists of e most arid section of the Gobi sert, of rolling meadow lands d foothills as the bases of high ountains, some of which are ered with perpetual snow.

PREPARATORY SURVEY

The Third Asiatic Expedition ll carry on a reconnaissance of soology, geology, paleontology d geography. This survey will preparatory to a more detailed dy in the future if the region ves to be of sufficient scientific terest.

Due to the short summer ad- ntage must be taken of the rm months when scientific dies can be carried on suc- sfully. This is between April and October 1. After the ter month snowstorms are of ch frequent occurrence that ective work is difficult.

The Expedition has purchased enty-five camels, which are eady on their way to a point own as Turin, 175 miles south Urga, transporting food, gaso- e, motor equipment and ntific apparatus sufficient for months. At Turin they will ait the other members of the pedition.

On April 19 the remainder of party will leave Kalgan in ee Dodge motor cars and two lton one-ton motor trucks. ey will begin scientific work mediately after leaving Kalgan d proceed slowly to Turin to nect with the caravan. From rin the caravan will be sent stward towards a region own as Sain Noin Khan. The ientific Staff will follow in tor cars.

After proceeding for perhaps a ndred miles, a camp will be de and the smaller automo- es will be utilised by the ntific party to carry on their rk. Horses and camels will be d to explore such regions as nnot be reached by the cars. ter working in a circle about first camp the scientists will ve a few hundred miles fur- er and the same method will repeated. The geologists, laeontologist and topographer ll occupy one car, the zoolo- sts a second and the photo- apher a third. Each party ll be a complete mobile unit uipped with its own cook, iver and assistants and can re- ain away from the base camp long as it is desirable.

TO USE MOTOR CARS

By the use of motors for rapid ansportation over the less in- resting areas, it is believed at three seasons work can be ne in six months. The camel ravan will be sent ahead from ace to place thus acting as a movable base and as a reserve if the motor transportation does not prove as successful as is expected. The use of motor vehicles in this remote region is an experiment which should have considerable importance in demonstrating how accessible the country can be made in the future.

The motors are equipped with all the latest devices and such a complete assortment of spare parts is being carried that it would be possible almost to construct a new car if one were disabled. Mr. S. Bayard Colgate, who has charge of the motor transportation, is an expert in his line and has spent several weeks in the factories familiarising himself with every detail of the construction and repair of cars.

Supplies of gasoline, oil, food and other essentials will be obtained every four or five days from the camel caravan which will be sent ahead from point to point as the field of operation is changed.

It is proposed to bring back a very complete record in motion pictures of the work of the expedition, the life and customs of the people, and interesting features of the country. Mr. J. S. Shackleford is equipped with three remarkable cameras which were invented by Mr. Carl Akerley of the American Museum of Natural History for natural history work. This camera can be levelled instantly without reference to the position of the tripod and with a turn of the wrist can be swung up and down, from side to side, or in any direction, thus obviating the clumsy panoramic device which is one of the most cumbersome features of the ordinary moving picture camera.

BATTERY OF LENSES

A battery of lenses of all descriptions, including powerful telephoto lenses, will make possible the obtaining of animal photographs at long distance. Antelope, wild horses, wild asses and wild camels can be run down in the motor cars and these exciting chases, which are a feature of hunting on the Mongolian plains, can be brought home in all their details.

The expedition hopes to lasso many animals from the cars and send some of them alive to America. A complete record of the lives and customs of the Mongols, historically one of the most interesting peoples of the world, has never been attempted, and this field has almost unlimited possibilities of the greatest scientific and popular interest.

Dr. Walter Granger, Palaeontologist of the Expedition, ranks high in his profession throughout the world. Possibly no man is more familiar with the difficult technique of discovering and preparing fossils in the field than Dr. Granger. His many years of work in America on the evolution of the eocene horse have brought to the American Museum of Natural History the finest collection of fossil horse material in the world. He also conducted extensive explorations in the Fayum Desert of Africa on the famous expedition under the direction of the distinguished President of the American Museum of Natural History, Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn.

Dr. Granger has only recently returned from Eastern Szechuen where he has been spending the Winter investigating a fossil field not far from Wanhsien on the Yangtsze River. This expedition has brought together an extremely interesting collection of fossils among which the primitive elephant Stegedon is particularly well represented.

DISTINGUISHED LEADER

Dr. Charles P. Berkey, who is Professor of Geology in the Columbia University in New York, has been connected with so many important operations in America, and is so well known to the Geologists of the world, that special mention of his activities would be superfluous. Dr. Berkey, who has charge of all the geological work of the expedition will carry on a reconnaissance of Structural Geology and Physiography of the areas to be visited in Mongolia and lay out general plans for further geological work. His attention will be particularly devoted to the Territory features of the region in relation to its bearing on the problem of primitive man.

Professor Frederick Morris is a former colleague of Dr. Berkey in Columbia University, and until March 1 was Professor of Geology in Peiyang University at Tientsin Professor Morris is an expert topographer and will have charge of the mapping and survey work of the expedition as well as assisting in geological investigations. Probably no man in America is better equipped for this work because of his exceptional ability in sketching and his familiarity with mapmaking and all phases of topographical study.

Mr. F. A. Larsen, who will act as Field Manager in Mongolia, will bring to the expedition the benefit of his thorough knowledge of the country and its people and will be of the greatest assistance in helping to adjust the various difficulties, such as will inevitably arise.

Roy Chapman Andrews, the Leader and Organiser of the expedition, as well as directing the general operations will conduct zoological investigations in mammals, birds, fishes and reptiles.

PURPOSE OF EXPEDITION

The purpose of the Third Asiatic Expedition is to carry on a coordinated investigation of various areas in Central Asia which have remained scientifically unexplored. It is the concensus of scientific opinion that the Central Asian plateau, including Tibet, Chinese Turkestan and Mongolia, was not only the point of origin and distribution for many forms of animal life which exist today in America, Europe and many parts of the world, but was also the so-called cradle of the human race.

Although its important relation to human ancestry has long been recognised, no co-ordinated scientific investigation has ever been conducted on a large scale. Its zoology and botany bear the most intimate relations to the ancestry of man and it is with reference to this problem, which is of world-wide interest, that the expedition will conduct its work. It will furnish material for the Great Hall of Asiatic Life which is now being added to the buildings of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City.

The Expedition also purposes to present to the Chinese Government a duplicate series of its collections which it is hoped will be used as the basis of a national museum of natural history in Peking. The cordial support which all the officials of the Chinese Government have accorded the expedition and the facilities which have been given to it for prosecuting its work, indicate what a keen appreciation of the value of scientific study there is in China.

CHINESE SURVEY

The Chinese Geological Survey for years has been carrying on geological and palaeontological explorations in various parts of China and has already become an institution of recognised importance throughout the world, because of the high standard of its work.

The Survey has cooperated in the most friendly and scientific spirit with the Third Asiatic Expedition and a plan of operations has been agreed upon, which is moving of great mutual benefit.

The expedition expects to return from Mongolia about October 1, 1922. At that time Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, President of the American Museum of Natural History, will arrive in Peking with his wife and daughter and inspect the results of the work and plan for future investigations.

Professor Osborn is one of the most distinguished scientists and educators of the world and is one of the greatest living authorities on the evolution of man. His visit to Peking cannot but be an important event in the scientific life of China.

Mr. Clifford Pope, Assistant in Zoology, will not accompany the expedition to Mongolia but will continue his studies of the reptiles, fish and batrachians of China. He has already obtained more than 10,000 specimens and will visit all the provinces of China before his work is completed.

Mr. James Wong, Interpreter, will make an expedition to Szechuen Province while the main party is in Mongolia. His work will be an examination of the caves along the Yangtsze River, preparatory to Palaeontological studies for the Winter of 1922-1923. Mr. Henry R. Caldwell, Assistant in Zoology, will continue his zoological survey of Fukien Province during the Summer.

woman's wrists. At 431 Shanhaikwan Road a woman had resisted when he tore her gold bangles from her, so he shot her dead.

With seven others Wong next robbed a shop in Gei Bai Ka of 12 balls of opium and then with nine others had stolen $250 worth of jewelry from 95 Kiukiang Road. Jewelry to the value of $300 was secured in a midnight raid on a residence at 295 Elgin Road.

Once, after two of their number had been caught and sent to the Arsenal to be shot, Wong said the gang had wavered a little in their criminal careers and gone to Ningpo for a vacation. When they returned they attempted to snatch a bag from a Chinese on North Thibet Road one day. The man shouted for help. "I fired two shots into him," said Wong.

Another attempted bag-snatching on Peking Road on March 10 also involved a murder. The Chinese resisted so Wong fired three shots into his body and he fell dead.

Six in all were arrested by Inspector Eek and Detective Sergeants Kilkenny and Isaacs with the assistance of the French police. Because of the size of their gang their spoils in most instances averaged only $10 or $15 each, including the loot from those they found necessary to murder.

Besides the four condemned yesterday the two arrested with them were in court, but no action was taken in their cases which are still under investigation by the police.

BIG COAL STRIKE SPREADING, MINE OWNERS ADMIT

Government Will Try To Prevent Indictments

(China Press Service)

New York, April 12.—Bituminous coal operators admit that the strike is spreading in the non-unionist strongholds and that the unions are rapidly gaining ground, much faster than was expected.

Vice President Murray stated that 100,000 miners had joined the strike since it began.

Indianapolis, April 12.—At the termination of a series of conferences with Federal Judge Anderson and other federal officers, Attorney General Daugherty announced that the government would not permit a repetition of acts which caused the indictment of "220 union men and operators for the violation of the anti-trust law."

Looking toward the settlement of the present strike, some operators declare that there is a possibility that the Shernan Act will be used as a basis of prosecution against any conference which may be called to settle matters.

OPIUM TOTALS FOR INDIA SHOW HEAVY DECREASE

Ten Thousand Chests Exported In Last Fiscal Year

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 12.—At question time in the House of Commons today, Lord Winterton, Under Secretary of State for India, gave figures showing that it was estimated that 1,645,000 pounds of opium had been produced from 143,000 acres in British India in 1920-21, the gross revenue to the Central Government from which was £2,415,000. The corresponding figures for 1918-19 were 2,247,000 pounds from 177,000 acres with a revenue of £3,289,000.

Lord Winterton stated that there was no information in regard to the total production of the Indian States, where it was estimated that there were 56,000 acres producing opium in 1919-20 as compared with 24,000 acres in 1918-1919.

He stated that 10,000 chests of opium had been exported from British India in 1919-20 as compared with 14,000 in 1918-19.

League Advocates Increasing, Borah Insists In Senate

(China Press Service)

Washington, April 12.—Senator McCormick in the Senate today challenged the Democrats to state whether or not the attitude which former presidential nominee Mr. Cox expressed on the League of Nations was the attitude which the Democratic party is taking now. He said: "I am certain that the Democrats will soon have to take a stand before the public on this question."

Senator Borah interrupted the speaker expressing his belief that some Republicans are growing more friendly every day to the League and that the number of League supporters was steadily increasing.

Kiangwan Easter Meeting Tomorrow And Monday Has Classy Card Of Entrants

The Hawk, Last Fall's Champion Is Out For First Time This Spring

The two-day Easter Meeting of the International Recreation Club to be run at Kiangwan tomorrow and Monday appears to be the semi-final conditioning trial for local ponies for the big Spring Race Meeting on the City Course, May 1, 2, 3 and 6. The list of entries given out yesterday show some of those good ponies which have not yet raced this spring which might be expected to get into the Spring Champions, and the best of the other local talent.

One notable entry at the Kiangwan Eastern Meet is the Winsome and Hasty pony, The Hawk, winner of last fall's champion sweepstakes, and third in the classic a year ago. The pony has not started yet this spring and many racing fans feared that it might not be in condition for the Spring racing. Entries for the Spring Meeting however include the popular little pony, so it is a safe bet that it will run in the champions again this spring as the selected bearer of the stable colors.

The Kiangwan Easter Meet lists 11 races to commence at 1 p.m. each day. The card for the first day consists of one handicap maiden steeplechase to about two miles, one selling plate to a mile, five running races for griffins and four for all China ponies. The Easter Stakes which goes to three quarters of a mile is limited to bona fide griffins of the meeting. The Yangtsze Stakes, the fourth event, at a mile and a quarter and the Easter Criterion Stakes, the sixth race, at a mile have some of Shanghai's best ponies entered, including The Hawk, Maresfield, Letchfield, Shenkoland, Association and Nationalist.

On Monday two big races are listed, one the Easter Steeplechase to two miles open to all China ponies that have never won more than one steeplechase, and the other the Easter Handicap at a mile and a quarter for all China ponies. The latter event has Petersfield, Lichfield, Shenkoland, Nationalist, Social Union and other good ponies to a total of 38 entered. A selling for all China ponies, a mile and a half gallop for maidens, three other running races for all China ponies and four for griffins complete the card.

THE SPRING MEETING

Ninety-five ponies including 55 griffins are entered for the Spring Meeting, on the City Course. Every first class stable is entered with their best ponies. Practically all of the recent Champions and Grand National winners are out: The Hawk, Old Bill, Petersfield, Maresfield, Liability, Medina-Sidonia, Tatouillard. Other entries include nearly all of the best local ponies.

Peking Holds Cycle Classic April 17

Peking April 10.—Interest continues to increase in the cycle classic to be held in Peking on April 17. The number of entries has increased to more than 60 and from the rate they are coming in the number may finally reach over one hundred. There are still wanting English and American representatives. The Chinese press wishes to know whether Americans and Englishmen do not ride bicycles. Here is a sporting contest with every nationality entered except the Anglo-Saxons. Four more French entries have been sent in.

The race committee is in receipt of several hundreds of dollars from interested individuals to be used as prizes. Many of the contestants are now in training and a small crowd goes over the course every day—fifty-six kilometers is a fair day's ride.

Americans or Englishmen in any part of China who are interested in entering the race are urged to apply either directly to the Journal de Pekin or to the Chung Mei News Agency, 20 Mei Cha Hutung, Peking.

Sporting Editor's Letter Box

Dear Sir.—I shall be much obliged, if you will kindly enlighten me on the following:

Five hand poker, Jack Pot, "A" opened, "B" and "C" entered and "D" raised. "A" and "C" stayed.

"A" and "C" drew one card each, and "D" drew two, and "D" bet, and "A" doubled. Both "C" and "D" dropped out. In showing the openers, "A" showed two pairs, "C" said he threw a full hand away, as he thought "A" had a better hand than himself. Who is entitled to the money?

It is agreed before sitting down any one who may hold two pairs can raise or double.

Eleven thousand non-players, most of them spectators at various sports, visited the Park in March.

More Cricketers Called For Drill

In addition to those cricket players mentioned in the first announcement to start practice in preparation for the interport match here with Hongkong May 11, the following men are asked to report on the field at noon Monday: Messrs. Wainwright, Spencer, Nichols, Cobb and Rawsthorne.

TOMBSTONE GOLF MATCH

The Tombstone competition of the Shanghai Golf Club, the proceeds of which are to go to a charity, will be held today. Only one card may be taken out. The entrance fee is $1. New Light Heavyweight Champion Of America

Gene Tunney, of New York, light heavyweight champion of the A. E. F., took the light-heavy title of America from Battling Levinsky in Madison Square Garden after twelve furious rounds of boxing. Levinsky made a gallant effort to retain his title, but the speed, vigor and power of the younger man were too much for the courageous, aged battler. Tunney, showing the best form he has yet displayed, outboxed, outhit and outgeneraled the clever and resourceful Levinsky.

BASEBALL SQUAD START INTENSIVE TRAINING TODAY

Herby Gallop's squad of baseball candidates will take the field at 3:30 o'clock today instead of the usual 5 o'clock date. A thorough drilling will be gone through, with the idea of getting a close line on every individual on the field. Practice this season for the most part has been free and open with every man taking the work that suited his taste. Position practice will be the order from now on however and it is expected before nightfall that the club leaders will have a fair idea of the value of the new talent.

Maloney had a gang of new men on the field Wednesday putting them through some infield drilling, and he found them good. Woods covered first and he did it well. Should Hopkins not find his leg strong enough for the first season's games, or should he suffer another injury Woods might fill the post at the initial sack. Hubbard at second and Swinehart at third also seemed to fit. Wilhelmni and Cameron, outfielders, filled in and showed promise.

Cameron, to whom baseball is a new game handled himself at short and in the outfield in a surprisingly neat manner. Cameron undoubtedly will be used this season, in the outfield perhaps until he gets on to the inside game, and anywhere on the base lines later. He covers the outer gardens easily, and scoops them up in the infield like an old timer. He has a strong wing, and shows promise of being a sure and heavy hitter. Wilhelmni also promises a little above the average new comer. He would fit in any local outfield.

Wynn and Church, the two new men depended on to fill the gaps in the pitching staff threw some yesterday. Wynn is a right hander; Church is a southpaw. Both have speed, good enough control for the first of the year, and indications of something more. Church tried a few hooks and they looked to be up to par. Wynn took it easy.

Wall and Hirsh, the two new catchers have not been out since last Saturday. It is not known yet whether or not Wall will be free to play on the local team, but Hirsh is a certainty. The latter is working out regularly at Nanyang and perhaps is in better baseball shape right now than any other man on the squad.

The men practice again tomorrow and Sunday at the same time, 3:30 o'clock on the baseball grounds.

Dempsey Sails For Europe Open For Any Bouts That Offer; May Go On Stage

Trip Will Not Interfere With Any Fight Arranged For Him At Home

New York, April 12.—Jack Dempsey, who left here for Europe on the Aquitania yesterday, has not signed up for any fights either in England or on the Continent, the heavyweight champion of the world said just before the big steamer pulled out.

Jack Kearns, his manager, said that Dempsey will box if he can get a match.

"We are going abroad to do our stuff," said Kearns. "We have no bouts contracted for and the talk that we have been signed to meet Carpentier, Beckett or Wills for C. B. Cochran is not true. However, Cochran or any other man in Europe, who is responsible, can arrange a bout for the champion. We'll fight Wills or anybody over there or we'll fight them over here. Anything that can be smoked up suits the champion and myself.

"Labor Day at Boyle's Thirty Acres? Well, I'll tell you. There's been plenty of talk about a bout for Dempsey there on that day, and our trip won't interfere with it if any good bout is arranged. Greb, Wills, Carpentier, Brennan—why, any of them will do. It's like a trip back from Brooklyn to hop from Europe, so they can go ahead and arrange.

"We want to fight. If we don't fight it will be vaudeville and exhibitions in Ireland, England, France and—yes, we'll even go to Germany. They tell me they've got a great [illegible] boxing there. We'll even go to India and dig up a Wills if a Wills doesn't come to us."

Dempsey will be in Europe three months.

Accuse Japanese Of Great Activity As Arms Smuggler

There was a hearing before Magistrate Kobayashi at the Japanese Consular Court yesterday of the case in which one T. Asano is charged as the ringleader of a gang of arms smugglers who have been bringing pistols into the Settlement. Three others, quartermasters of a Japanese steamer, were fined Yen 10 each Wednesday for complicity.

The case for the police was conducted by Detective Sergeant J. Quayle, of Wayside, who testified that smuggling and sale of arms has been going on for a long time and on a large scale here. On April 10, he said, five pistols had been sold to Chinese here—the latter, who are in custody, appearing to testify. On April 2, D. S. Quayle said, the Haken Maru brought eight Mauser pistols which were disposed of and other consignments were known to have been brought by Japanese ships on various dates back to February 22, all going into Asano's hands.

The pistols are thought to have come from Hamburg, where they are bought for about Mex. $20 each. They sell here for $100 to $150 and the Chinese witnesses declare that they received $12 for each weapon disposed of.

The Magistrate stated that in view of the seriousness of the case it would be adjourned to a date which will be announced later.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

"MISS HOBBS" SCREENED IN 6 PARTS

One of the most sparkling comedies crammed with mirth and pathos.

It's bad enough to be sick when you are sick. But to have to pretend to be sick when you feel like moving a house—well, that's a real chore for a husky athlete. But he had to do it to move the stubborn heart of the woman he loved. Did she succumb? Well, you know a woman is easily moved to pity by the sight of suffering, and pity is akin to love. If you want to laugh, see Wanda Hawley.

"The Stream Of Life"

This afternoon and evening there will be shown at the Victoria Theater the film allegory "The Stream of Life," the story for which was written by the Rev. James K. Shields. To the accompaniment of a specially written musical score, the picture has been shown throughout the United States, where it was given enthusiastic praise by both clergymen and laymen.

The allegory is that of a stream of clear water, rising in the hills and increasing in volume as it courses toward the sea, encountering obstacles in places, having its placid reaches and its rapids. The human parallel is found in the persons of a boy and girl and in their careers through life to the brink of the Beyond.

EXTENSION WORK OF SOUTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY TOLD

President Kuo Outlines Advances Of Last Year And Future Plans

To receive the president's report for the year and discuss matters of academic interest the Board of Trustees of the National Southeastern University held a special meeting at the Shanghai College of Commerce, Avenue Joffre, on April 6. There were present a representative of the Ministry of Education, Dr. Huang Yen-pei, Messrs. Yuan Shi-tao, C. C. Nieh, H. Y. Moh and others, with Dr. P. W. Kuo presiding.

In his presidential report, Dr. Kuo outlined the financial conditions of the University and briefly reviewed the achievements of the present year. He mentioned the academic progress—the fact that a great number of books and technical journals published by professors and students has been in very wide circulation. Aiming at its maximum usefulness to society, the University has been especially active this year in different lines of extension work; thus entension lectures in agriculture and education have been given at several cities in and outside of the province, a vocational school has been conducted by the engineering department, and evening courses have been offered by the College of Commerce. The opening of Correspondence Departments in English and Education is also proposed and being carefully considered.

Turning to the material side, Dr. Kuo dwelt upon the expansion of the University in respect to grounds and buildings. The former Nanyang Industrial Exhibition grounds have been donated to the University by the proprietor, Mr. Chang, and a part thereof covering about 300 mow already has been transferred to the University control. The new library, being the gift of Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan, which is to cost $150,000, is now under construction.

Arrangements will soon be completed to build an observatory on the hill, Pei Chi Ko. A general building program has been drawn up and preliminary drawings are being made by the Southeastern Engineering & Construction Co.

GET GENEROUS AID

The University has also been receiving generous fresh support from the governmental and public agencies this year. Half of the $20,000 for the Bureau of Entomology and an appropriation of $4,000 for agricultural survey and rice improvement experimentation are derived from the Provincial Treasury. In addition to a contribution of $20,000 for cotton culture experimentation, the Cotton Mills' Association has donated the annual proceeds of farms, amounting to $5,000. The International Sericulture Improvement Association has also donated $2,800 annually for sericulture experimentation, and the sum of $10,000 has been given by the T'ung Tai Salt Reclamation Co. for salt experimentation.

The meeting then proceeded to discuss the budget for the next academic year and the new Engineering School project. It approved of the withdrawal of Chi Nan Institute from the joint control of the College of Commerce, which is to be solely conducted by the University next year. Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan was elected an honorary member of the Board, and Messrs. Yuan Shi-tao, Shen En-fu and Dr. Huang Yen-pei were named as its executive members. Messrs. C. C. Nieh, H. Y. Moh and Y. M. Chien were elected to form a financial committee.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

April 13, 1922

Spot bar silver was down ⅛d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 65½ cents, and the London-New York cross rate improved to 442.

The official quotations here today were unchanged from yesterday and market throughout the day was steady and quiet.

Business in Sterling was done at rates varying between 3-3⅜ and 3-3 to 3-3 11-16 for all deliveries to June.

Gold dollars were done at 73⅛ and 73 up to June.

The market, however, was lifeless with banks disinclined to operate in view of the approaching Holiday.

India sold a small amount of silver in London yesterday and the market was reported to have closed steady.

New York report their market as firm and it would appear as though there is not likely to be any material change in the price of silver during the next few days.

Tramway Returns

The following is the traffic return, foreign Settlement, for the week ended April 12, 1922, with figures for the corresponding week last year:

	1922
Gross receipts	$66,333.13
Loss by currency depreciation	23,947.83
Effective receipts	$42,385.30
Percentage of loss by currency depreciation	37.99
Car miles run	110,911
Passengers carried	2,337,309
	1921
Gross receipts	$52,114.76
Loss by currency depreciation	15,672.33
Effective receipts	$36,442.43
Percentage of loss by currency depreciation	31.65
Car miles run	98,571
Passengers carried	2,308,145

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday:

Exchange:—The price of silver in London at 33½d. is the same as this day last week, minor fluctuations have occurred but the market generally has ruled steady, latest report describe it as dull with little doing. Our T.T. rate on London has remained unchanged throughout at 3s. 3d., with business again doing above this figure. No improvement in imports or exports has occurred, in respect of which exchange business has been on a very limited scale. The market closes steady with sellers of sterling at 3s. 3¾d., Gold Dollars 73⅛.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 30,097,000, a decrease of Tls. 862,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $35,880,000, an increase of $440,000.

Estimated value Tls. 55,930,000 as against Tls. 67,880,000 held this time last year.

Cotton Market

In their weekly report on the cotton market, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton.—We have had an uneventful week in the cotton market, with an extreme range of quotations of a quarter of a tael and at the close yesterday practically the same as a week ago. Receipts from the interior markets have been almost nil, in consequence of which, the predominating sentiment continues to be in favour of higher prices.

We think, therefore, that for the present time there is comparatively little risk in buying cotton conservatively on slight declines; such purchases should prove profitable anyhow, while they might show handsome results if the present strength of the world markets continue.

Yarn.—Both the yarn and cloth situation continues brilliant and trade is brisk. Sales by spinners and second hands were quickly absorbed by local and up-country trade interests and the market closed with a steady undertone.

Globe And Rutgers

The following figures and comment on the annual statement of the Globe and Rutgers insurance company appeared in a recent issue of the New York Journal of Commerce:

The annual statement figures of the Globe and Rutgers again emphasise the remarkable achievements of which this organisation is capable. In a year of deflation and consequent shrinkage in premiums, together with a remarkably heavy fire record for the country as a whole, the Globe and Rutgers comes through the year with increased assets, reserve and surplus. The statement shows total assets on January 1, of $46,652,573 as compared with $42,765,374 at the beginning of 1921. The reserves for unearned premium is $17,887,912, an increase of $1,294,148. After reserving $6,447,596 for losses in process of adjustment, $5,217,375 for commission and all other liabilities, $3,460,000 for taxes and depreciations, the company shows a net surplus beyond all liabilities of $12,939,689, and a surplus to policyholders of $13,639,689. This is an increase for the year of $1,578,378.

The record of the Globe and Rutgers during the past twenty-three years is one of interest to all fire underwriters, as it is without equal in the business. The figures of the company as of December 31 of the years given are as follows:

	Assets	Reserve	Surplus
1899	$529,282.59	$26,832.54	$3,038.94

Schurmen Sees Education As Big Need Of Chinese

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, April 13.—United States Minister Jacob Gould Schurman left here on the U. S. S. Albany at midnight.

Addressing Chinese students at Temple Hill yesterday he saw the salvation of China in education and useful work of her citizens.

He told of America's warm friendship for the Chinese people and expressed the hope that the existing pleasant relations would always continue.

Dr. Schurman was guest at the reception held in the American Consulate in the afternoon and attended a dinner given in his honor by the Taoyin last night.

Chinese Public Opinion And The Proposed Printed Matter By-Law

BY FRANCIS ZIA

THOSE who have read with an impartial mind the Chinese protest against the proposed printed matter by-law in the full-page announcement, which was published in all the local daily newspapers in the English language and in two newspapers in the Japanese language could not but reach the conclusion that the Chinese have not only made a correct interpretation of the meaning of the by-law in question but have advanced arguments so sound and substantial that in the absence of counter-arguments equally sound and substantial their case is one deserving of hearty support and enthusiastic endorsement.

In the first place the Chinese emphasise the fact that the Municipal Council is to be commended for its effort to stop seditious propaganda. But at the same time they contend that the Council should not close its eyes to the striking fact that the existing criminal laws of China and the foreign countries are perfectly adequate. Case after case in the Mixed Court prove conclusively the remarkable efficacy of these criminal laws in answering the very purposes for which they were originally framed by enlightened and farseeing legislators. To put the Chinese argument in a nutshell with regard to the adequacy of the criminal laws, their attitude is perhaps fully expressed by this question: "Why introduce a by-law to supersede or to supplement or to duplicate the functions of the criminal laws when there is not one iota of evidence to show that these laws are ineffectual for dealing with cases of seditious propaganda of every kind?"

The Chinese opposition against the printed matter by-law may be viewed from the following standpoints:

(1) Indiscriminate Registration. Who has to register with the Municipal Council or with one of the Consulates? He who prints or publishes or he who causes any one to print or publish anything in the nature of public news, intelligence or occurrence or any remark or observation thereon. The by-law says that when you use any mechanical device of reproduction, you are printing. It means what it says and this interpretation placed on this section of the by-law, which is the logical thing to do, was confirmed at an interview which in company with two local publishers I had with the Secretary of the Municipal Council in 1921.

The Chinese strongly object to this form of indiscriminate registration and declare that with this registration is necessarily and closely associated the element of official censorship. If you go to the Council and you are registered without being made to divulge the nature of what you want to print or publish to the registrar, the registration is utterly devoid of merit as a check on seditious propaganda. But if the registrar has to be duly informed of what each applicant wants to print or publish, then no amount of cunning could explain away the fact that this constitutes official censorship on the written speech of the community.

The municipalities in London, New York and Paris are administered along lines of standard efficiency and yet we find that in their elaborate programs of preserving peace and good order in their respective localities, there is not a single regulation or by-law which demands registration on the sweeping scale as contemplated by the municipal council here. In England newspaper owners are made to register but the registration of British printers has not been made compulsory and will not be made compulsory. In America newspaper owners are not obliged to get themselves registered. Such owners do so outside the United States for the sake of assuring themselves of American consular protection. Registration at the post office is a separate issue altogether which in no way concerns the municipality, and is merely intended to enable the newspaper and magazine publishers to get lower rates of postage.

(2) Printer's Name and Address. What has just been said concerns news or comments on news. Now comes a more comprehensive provision which requires the printer's name and his usual places of abode and business to appear on any paper printed and meant for dispersion or publication. Any paper means any paper and cannot be made to mean any newspaper only, and hence the scope is absolutely without limit. When you have the term print to mean "any mode of mechanical reproduction," just imagine what will happen when every time you use a Roneo machine or get out carbon copies on a typewriter. You become yourself a printer and as such you should see that the following particulars appear on the matter mechanically reproduced, namely

Printed by (say) J. H. Longmans
Business Address: (say) 113 Nanking Road
Residence: (say) 96 Bubbling Well Road

In the event of yourself not assuming the role of a printer in any way, would you like to be obliged scrupulously to insist on these particulars appearing on your printed programs, invitation cards, menus, admission tickets, lists of names, handbills announcing the unpacking of some new goods, or any pamphlet or leaflet answering the purpose of a public notification? Now all these articles are without a single exception meant for dispersion and could not be excluded from the all-embracing classification of "any paper." The printer's neglect makes you responsible.

(3) Question of Dispersion. The by-law makes the person who disperses or who causes another person to disperse any paper printed (or mechanically reproduced) and meant for publication or dispersion, to become responsible for the omission of the printer's name and his business and residential addresses. Is not this obligation something humanly impossible to fulfil when you are constantly receiving pamphlets, circulars, leaflets, etc., from sources outside the Settlement, from senders residing elsewhere in China or in some foreign country so that the putting on or the leaving out of the printer's name and addresses is a matter beyond the recipient's control and as a rule beyond his power to remedy?

If the Council says that the by-law is not intended to affect printers outside the Settlement—it cannot legally claim jurisdiction over places outside the Settlement limits—then will the Council interfere or not interfere when the printed matter to be dispersed is without the printer's name and addresses but is from a source outside the Settlement? If it does want to interfere, then it would, as it were, set up a fence against the entry of a large volume of literature which in no way comes under the category of seditious propaganda but is expressly intended to introduce the light of Western civilisation into China and to help to build up the Chinese market for the consumption of foreign products.

Even if the discussion of the question of dispersing printed matter is to be confined to the Settlement, how can an illiterate coolie know whether the printed matter bears on it or does not bear on it the name of some printer plus his addresses and even if this much is accomplished, which would be exceedingly improbable, how could he ever satisfy himself that the printer's name is genuine?

What the Council Might Do. The Council would meet with public support if it acted in a way that would dispel all doubts regarding the question of official censorship on what the public chooses to say by means of the written word, and if it afforded proof of its firm reliance on the competency of the criminal laws to mete out the right kind of punishment to those who carry on seditious propaganda, and merely sought to propose a new regulation for approval through the proper channels, which would of course be the Diplomatic Corps and the Chinese Foreign Office (the Waichiaopu), making it compulsory for the printer to put his own name on books or leaflets as a regular practice and to do likewise in connection with all types of literature of a seditious or scurrilous character in order better to identify the sources from which such literature comes so as to set the machinery of the criminal law in motion. The public would then agree with the Council in that while the criminal laws are adequate, the delinquents must be got hold of in order to make the laws effective and thereby discourage similar offences by sentencing the convicted offenders.

Where the Council Errs. The Council, the Chinese maintain, has erred in two directions in proposing this by-law. The matters with which the present by-law seeks to deal are beyond the scope of Regulation XXXV with which it is to become incorporated. By-laws should only be created to help the Council to carry out the existing regulations more effectively; no measure seeking to assume the legal form of a regulation should be clothed and labelled as a by-law. The printed matter by-law is one which cannot be made to belong to any one of the Shanghai Land Regulations from which the Municipal Council derives its "power, authority and control" to carry out its functions as a municipal body.

The Council errs in the second place in treating as a penal offence non-registration or the omission of the printer's name and addresses. Why does the Council want the address of abode and the address of business when the latter is all that we see on books and leaflets printed abroad, say in London? If the matter is serious, there are, as I have already emphasised, the criminal laws to be applied for giving the offender his just punishment.

Ado for Nothing. The by-law, if enforced, will bring on new, unparallelled molestations to the community at large. But what will the by-law achieve? Assuming that a Mr. Tom Jones Swift is an agitator. He wants to circulate pamphlets of an inflammatory character in the Settlement. How will the by-law deter him from carrying on his activities? The offhand argument of the by-law defender presumably will be something like this: "Mr. Swift must go to the Consulate to register his name and address there. When he goes to the Consulate or to the Municipal Council in case he has not got a consulate to go to, will he be asked to tell beforehand what is on his mind or will he be made to submit his manuscript to be examined? How can the manuscript become available when the registration is to take place before the printing or mechanical reproduction is effected, as, for example, in the case of a writer who types out his article in five copies by the use of carbon paper in order to syndicate it? If what he wants to write about is Bolshevism and he makes a wrong statement by saying: "I am going to print something or publish something about the Philippine Islands under General Leonard Wood," how is the writer to be checked up? And do you have to register every time you publish something or once for all? I was told last year at the Municipal Secretariat that very likely the registration would be renewed from year to year. Then where is the check? How can Mr. Swift be stopped from getting inflammatory leaflets printed outside the Settlement, putting them in closed envelopes, and mailing them to different addresses or having them secretly distributed at night?

The law cannot destroy man's free will to do evil but it is powerful enough to make him think twice beforehand whether it is worth while to incur the penalty to which he would be liable for his wrong-doing, and the laws that will do this in the case under discussion are the criminal laws against sedition. Thus the Council cannot make the by-law self-supporting as a sufficiently powerful deterrent against seditious propaganda. This being so, why should the Shanghai Municipal Council fail to model itself on the wise policies of the municipalities of the forward-looking cities in the world by giving the criminal laws an unhampered sphere in asserting their own usefulness, especially since the efficacy of this procedure has been demonstrated again and again?

Freedom of speech is a right that no municipal council has yet succeeded or will ever succeed in limiting by a system of registration which is, in its practical application, nothing short of official censorship. Man is a free being, and he must be allowed to speak or write freely and take the consequences, and no community where the enlightened elements have a decisive voice in administrative affairs will suffer municipal employes to become arbitrary judges as to what is fit or what is unfit to be published for the information of the public

In 1919 the Council wanted to license the press and printing establishments. That scheme failed. In that campaign the foreign community was remarkably outspoken. In the case of the Printed Matter By-law the Chinese opposing the said by-law are thoroughly convinced that they are rendering a service to the community as a whole. That is why they seek the moral support of the foreign community because it is incontrovertible that official censorship cannot be divorced from registration. Even for this one phase alone, plus the essential consideration that it is ultra vires, the Chinese appeal for co-operation in opposing the Printed Matter By-law is worthy of the most enthusiastic and determined support.

God And Evolution -:- By William Jennings Bryan

I appreciate your invitation to present the objections to Darwinism, or evolution applied to man, and beg to submit to your readers the following:

The only part of evolution in which any considerable interest is felt is evolution applied to man. A hypothesis in regard to the rocks and plant life does not affect the philosophy upon which one's life is built. Evolution applied to fish, birds and beasts would not materially affect man's view of his own responsibilities except as the acceptance of an unsupported hypothesis as to these would be used to support a similar hypothesis as to man. The evolution that is harmful—distinctly so—is the evolution that destroys man's family tree as taught by the Bible and makes him a descendant of the lower forms of life. This, as I shall try to show, is a very vital matter.

I deal with Darwinism because it is a definite hypothesis. In his 'Descent of Man' and 'Origin of Species' Darwin has presumed to outline a family tree that begins, according to his estimate, about two hundred million years ago with marine animals. He attempts to trace man's line of descent from this obscure beginning up through fish, reptile, bird and animal to man. He has us descend from European, rather than American, apes and locates our first ancestors in Africa. Then he says, "But why speculate?"—a very significant phrase because it applies to everything that he says. His entire discussion is speculation.

DARWIN'S "LAWS"

Darwin set forth two (so-called) laws by which he attempts to explain the changes which he thought had taken place in the development of life from the earlier forms to man. One of these is called "Natural Selection" or "Survival of the Fittest," his argument being that a form of life which had any characteristic that was beneficial had a better chance of survival than a form of life that lacked that characteristic. The second law that he assumed to declare was called "Sexual Selection," by which he attempted to account for every change that was not accounted for by Natural Selection. Sexual Selection has been laughed out of the class room. Even in his day Darwin said (see note to "Descent of Man" 1874 edition, page 625) that it aroused more criticism than anything else he had said, when he used Sexual Selection to explain how man became a hairless animal. Natural Selection is being increasingly discarded by scientists. John Burroughs, just before his death, registered a protest against it. But many evolutionists adhere to Darwin's conclusions while discarding his explanations, in other words, they accept the line of descent which he suggested without any explanation whatever to support it.

Other scientists accept the family tree which he outlined, but would have man branch off at a point below, or above, the development of apes and monkeys instead of coming through them. So far as I have been able to find, Darwin's line of descent has more supporters than any other outlined by evolutionists. If there is any other clearly defined family tree supported by a larger number of evolutionists, I shall be glad to have information about it that I may investigate it.

The first objection to Darwinism is that it is only a guess and was never anything more. It is called a "hypothesis," but the word "hypothesis," though euphonious, dignified and high-sounding, is merely a scientific synonym for the old-fashioned word "guess." If Darwin had advanced his views as a guess they would not have survived for a year, but they have floated for half a century, buoyed up by the inflated word "hypothesis." When it is understood that "hypothesis" means "guess," people will inspect it more carefully before accepting it.

NO SUPPORT IN THE BIBLE

The second objection to Darwin's guess is that it has not one syllable in the Bible to support it. This ought to make Christians cautious about accepting it without thorough investigation. The Bible not only describes man's creation, but gives a reason for it; man is a part of God's plan and is placed on earth for a purpose. Both the Old and New Testament deal with man and with man only. They tell of God's creation of him, of God's dealings with him and of God's plans for him. Is it not strange that a Christian will accept Darwinism as a substitute for the Bible when the Bible not only does not support Darwin's hypothesis but directly and expressly contradicts it?

Third—Neither Darwin nor his supporters have been able to find a fact in the universe to support their hypothesis. With millions of species, the investigators have not been able to find one single instance in which one species has changed into another, although, according to the hypothesis, all species have developed from one or a few germs of life, the development being through the action of "resident forces" and without outside aid. Wherever a form of life, found in the rocks, is found among living organisms, there is no material change from the earliest form in which it is found. With millions of examples, nothing imperfect is found—nothing in the process of change. This statement may surprise those who have accepted without investigation, as most of those who call themselves evolutionists have done. One preacher who wrote to me expressing great regret that I should dissent from Darwin said that he had not investigated the matter for himself, but that nearly all scientists seemed to accept Darwinism.

The latest word that we have on this subject comes from Professor Bateson, a high English authority, who journeyed all the way from London to Toronto, Canada, to address the American Association for the Advancement of Science the 28th day of last December.

Professor Bateson is an evolutionist, but he tells with real pathos how every effort to discover the origin of species has failed. He takes up different lines of investigation, commenced hopefully but ending in disappointment. He concludes by saying, "Let us then proclaim in precise and unmistakable language that our faith in evolution is unshaken," and then he adds "our doubts are not as to the reality or truth of evolution, but as to the origin of species, a technical, almost domestic problem. Any day that mystery may be solved." Here is optimism at its maximum. They fall back on faith. They have not yet found the origin of species, and yet how can evolution explain life unless it can account for change in species? Is it not more rational to believe in creation of man by separate act of God than to believe in evolution without a particle of evidence?

Fourth—Darwinism is not only without foundation, but it compels its believers to resort to explanations that are more absurd than anything found in the "Arabian Nights." Darwin explains that man's mind became superior to woman's because among our brute ancestors, the males fought for the females and thus strengthened their minds. If he had lived until now, he would not have felt it necessary to make so ridiculous an explanation, because woman's mind is not now believed to be inferior to man's.

AS TO HAIRLESS MEN

Darwin also explained that the hair disappeared from the body, permitting man to become a hairless animal because, among our brute ancestors, the females preferred the males with the least hair and thus, in the course of ages, bred the hair off. It is hardly necessary to point out that these explanations conflict; the males and the females could not both select at the same time.

Evolutionists, not being willing to accept the theory of creation, having to explain everything, and their courage in this respect is as great as their efforts are laughable. The eye, for instance, according to evolutionists, was brought out by "the light beating upon the skin;" the ear came out in response to "air waves;" the leg is the development of a wart that chanced to appear on the belly of an animal; and so the tommyrot runs on ad infinitum, and sensible people are asked to swallow it.

Recently a college professor told an audience in Philadelphia that a baby wiggles its big toe without wiggling its other toes because its ancestors climbed trees; also that we dream of falling because our forefathers fell out of trees 50,000 years ago, adding that we are not hurt in our dreams of falling because we descended from those that fell and were not killed. (If we descended from animals at all we certainly did not descend from those that were killed in falling.) A professor in Illinois has fixed as the great day in history the day when a water puppy crawled upon the land and decided to stay there, thus becoming man's first progenitor. A dispatch from Paris recently announced that an eminent scientist had reported having communicated with the soul of a dog and learned that the dog was happy.

I simply mention these explanations to show what some people can believe who cannot believe the Bible. Evolution seems to close the heart of some to the plainest spiritual truth while it opens the mind to the wildest of guesses advanced in the name of science.

GUESSING IS NOT SCIENCE.

Guesses are not science. Science is classified knowledge, and a scientist ought to be the last person to insist upon a guess being accepted until proof removes it from the field of hypothesis into the field of demonstrated truth. Christianity has nothing to fear from any truth; no fact disturbs the Christian religion or the Christian. It is the unsupported guess that is substituted for science to which opposition is made, and I think the objection is a valid one.

But, it may be asked, why should one object to Darwinism even though it is not true? This is a proper question and deserves a candid answer. There are many guesses which are perfectly groundless and at the same time entirely harmless; and it is not worth while to worry about a guess or to disturb the guesser so long as his guess does not harm others.

The objection to Darwinism is that it is harmful, as well as groundless. It entirely changes one's view of life and undermines faith in the Bible. Evolution has no place for the miracle or the supernatural. It flatters the egotist to be told that there is nothing that his mind cannot understand. Evolution proposes to bring all the processes of nature within the comprehension of man by making it the explanation of everything that is known. Creation implies a Creator, and the finite mind cannot comprehend the Infinite. We can understand some things, but we run across mystery at every point. Evolution attempts to solve the mystery of life by suggesting a process of development commencing "in the dawn of time" and continuing uninterrupted up until now. Evolution does not explain creation; it simply diverts attention from it by hiding it behind eons of time. If a man accepts Darwinism, or evolution applied to man, and is consistent, he rejects the miracle and the supernatural as impossible. He commences with the first chapter of Genesis and blots out the Bible story of man's creation, not because the evidence is insufficient, but because the miracle is inconsistent with evolution. If he is consistent, he will go through the Old Testament step by step and cut out all the miracles and all the supernatural. He will then take up the New Testament and cut out all the supernatural—the virgin birth of Christ, His miracles and His resurrection, leaving the Bible a story book without binding authority upon the conscience of man. Of course not all evolutionists are consistent; some fail to apply their hypothesis to the end just as some Christians fail to apply their Christianity to life.

EVOLUTION AND GOD

Most of the evolutionists are materialists; some admitting that they are atheists, others calling themselves agnostics. Some call themselves "Theistic Evolutionists," but the theistic evolutionist puts God so far away that He ceases to be a present influence in the life. Canon Barnes of Westminster, some two years ago, interpreted evolution as to put God back of the time when the electrons came out of "stuff" and combined (about 1740 of them) to form an atom. Since then, according to Canon

Good Friday And Lucky Friday

BY WALTER D. HSU

Today is observed as Good Friday. Banks, Consulates, customs and other organisations are closed on holiday. It takes a form of custom traced up for the working peoples have a time to enjoy the nature Spring beauty; picnics, out-door games, travellings and etc., are so made. But, what can you know more happened on that date? On the record of human transaction, it is the date of some of the most important and "lucky" occurrences. Let us see:

On Friday, August 21, 1492, Columbus sailed on his great voyage of discovery. On Friday, October 12, 1492, he first discovered land. On Friday, January 4, 1493, he sailed on his return to Spain, which if he had not reached in safety, the happy result would never have been known which led to the settlement of this vast continent. On Friday, March 15, 1493, he arrived at Palos in safety. On Friday, November 22, 1493, he arrived at Hispaniola, in his second voyage to America. On Friday, June 13, 1494, he, though unknown to himself, discovered the continent of America. On Friday, March 5, 1496, Henry VIII of England gave to John Cabot his commission, which led to the discovery of North America. This is the first American State paper in England. On Friday, September 7, 1565, was found St. Augustine Florida, the oldest town in the United States by more than forty years. On Friday, November 10, 1620, the May Flower, which the Pilgrims made the harbor of Provincetown, and on the same day they signed that august compact, the forerunner of the glorious constitution. On Friday, December 22, 1620, the Pilgrims made their final landing at Plymouth Rock. On Friday, February 22, 1732, George Washington, the Father of American Freedom, was born. On Friday, June 16, 1775, Bunker Hill was seized and fortified. On Friday, September 22, 1780, the treason of Arnold was laid bare, which saved the Americans from destruction. On Friday, June 7, 1776, the motion in the Congress of U. S. was made by John Adams, seconded by Richard Henry Lee, that the United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free and independent. Thus we see that Friday is not so bad a day, after all.

God And Evolution

Barnes, things have been developing to God's plan but without God's aid.

It requires measureless credulity to enable one to believe that all that we see about us came by chance, by a series of happy-go-lucky accidents. If only an infinite God could have formed hydrogen and oxygen and united them in just the right proportions to produce water—the daily need of every living thing—scattered among the flowers all the colors of the rainbow and every variety of perfume, adjusted the mocking bird's throat to its musical scale, and fashioned a soul for man, why should we want to imprison God in an impenetrable past? This is a living world. Why not a living God upon the throne? Why not allow Him to work now?

Theistic evolutionists insist that they magnify God when they credit Him with devising evolution as a plan of development. They sometimes characterise the Bible God as a "carpenter god," who is described as repairing his work from time to time at man's request. The question is not whether God could have made the world according to the plan of evolution—of course, an all-powerful God could make the world as He pleased. The real question is, Did God use evolution as His plan? If it could be shown that man, instead of being made in the image of God, is a development of beasts we would have to accept it, regardless of its effect; for truth is truth and must prevail. But when there is no proof we have a right to consider the effect of the acceptance of an unsupported hypothesis.

DARWIN'S AGNOSTICISM

Darwinism made an agnostic out of Darwin. When he was a young man he believed in God; before he died he declared that the beginning of all things is a mystery insoluble by us. When he was a young man he believed in the Bible; just before his death he declared that he did not believe that there had ever been any revelation; that banished the Bible as the inspired Word of God, and, with it, the Christ of whom the Bible tells. When Darwin was young he believed in a future life; before he died he declared that each must decide the question for himself from vague, uncertain probabilities. He could not throw any light upon the great questions of life and immortality. He said that be "must be content to remain an agnostic."

And then he brought the most terrific indictment that I have read against his own hypothesis. He asks (just before his death): "Can the mind of man, which has, as I fully believe, been developed from a mind as low as that possessed by the lowest animal, be trusted when it draws such grand conclusions?" He brought man down to the brute level and then judged man's mind by brute standards.

This is Darwinism. This is Darwin's own testimony against himself. If Darwinism could make an agnostic of Darwin, what is its effect likely to be upon students to whom Darwinism is taught at the very age when they are throwing off parental authority and becoming independent? Darwin's guess gives the student an excuse for rejecting the authority of God, an excuse that appeals to him more strongly at this age than at any other age in life. Many of them come back after a while as Romanes came back. After feeding upon husks for twenty-five years, he began to feel his way back, like a prodigal son, to his father's house, but many never return.

Professor Leuba, who teaches psychology at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, wrote a book about six years ago entitled "Belief in God and Immortality" (it can be obtained from the Open Court Publishing Company, Chicago), in which he declared that belief in God and immortality is dying out among the educated classes. As proof of this he gave the results which he obtained by submitting questions to prominent scientists in the United States. He says that he found that more than half of them, according to their own answers, do not believe in a personal God or a personal immortality. To reinforce his position, he sent questions to students of nine representative colleges and found that unbelief increases from 15 percent in the freshman year to 30 percent in the junior class, and to 40 to 45 percent (among the men) at graduation. This he attributes to the influence of the scholarly men under whose instruction they pass in college.

RELIGION WANING

Any one desiring to verify these statistics can do so by inquiry at our leading State institutions and even among some of our religious denominational colleges. Fathers and mothers complain of their children losing their interest in religion and speaking lightly of the Bible. This begins when they come under the influence of a teacher who accepts Darwin's guess, ridicules the Bible story of creation and instructs the child upon the basis of the brute theory. In Columbia a teacher began his course in geology by telling the children to lay aside all that they had learned in Sunday School. A teacher of philosophy in the University of Michigan tells students that Christianity is a state of mind and that there are only two books of literary value in the Bible. Another professor in that university tells students that no thinking man can believe in God or in the Bible. A teacher in the University of Wisconsin tells his students that the Bible is a collection of myths. Another State university professor diverts a dozen young men from the ministry and the President of a prominent State university tells his students in a lecture on religion to throw away religion if it does not harmonise with the teaching of biology, psychology, etc.

The effect of Darwinism is seen in the pulpits; men of prominent denominations deny the virgin birth of Christ and some even His resurrection. Two Presbyterians, preaching in New York State, recently told me that agnosticism was the natural attitude of old people. Evolution naturally leads to agnosticism and, if continued, finally to atheism. Those who teach Darwinism are undermining the faith of Christians; they are raising questions about the Bible as an authoritative source of truth; they are teaching materialistic views that rob the life of the young of spiritual values.

Christians do not object to freedom of speech; they believe that Biblical truth can hold its own in a fair field. They concede the right of ministers to pass from belief to agnosticism or atheism, but they contend that they should be honest enough to separate themselves from the ministry and not attempt to debase the religion which they profess.

And so in the matter of education. Christians do not dispute the right of any teacher to be agnostic or atheistic, but Christians do deny the right of agnostics and atheists to use the public school as a forum for the teaching to their doctrines.

The Bible has in many places been excluded from the schools on the ground that religion should not be taught by those paid by public taxation. If this doctrine is sound, what right have the enemies of religion to teach irreligion in the public schools? If the Bible cannot be taught, why should Christian taxpayers permit the teaching of guesses that make the Bible a lie? A teacher might just as well write over the door of his room, "Leave Christianity behind you, all ye who enter here," as to ask his students to accept an hypothesis directly and irreconcilably antagonistic to the Bible.

Our opponents are not fair. When we find fault with the teaching of Darwin's unsupported hypothesis, they talk about Copernicus and Galileo and ask whether we shall exclude science and return to the dark ages. Their evasion is a confession of weakness. We do not ask for the exclusion of any scientific truth, but we do protest against an atheist teacher being allowed to blow his guesses in the face of the student. The Christians who want to teach religion in their schools furnish the money for denominational institutions. If atheists want to teach atheism, why do they not built their own schools and employ their own teachers? If a man really believes that he has brute blood in him, he can teach that to his children at home or he can send them to atheistic schools, where his children will not be in danger of losing their brute philosophy, but why should he be allowed to deal with other people's children as if they were little monkeys?

We stamp upon our coins "In God We Trust"; we administer to witnesses an oath in which God's name appears; our President takes his oath of office upon the Bible. Is it fanatical to suggest that public taxes should not be employed for the purpose of undermining the nation's God? When we defend the Mosaic account of man's creation and contend that man has no brute blood in him, but was made in God's image by separate act and placed on earth to carry out a divine decree, we are defending the God of the Jews as well as the God of the Gentiles; the God of the Catholics as well as the God of the Protestants. We believe that faith in a Supreme Being is essential to civilisation as well as to religion and that abandonment of God means ruin to the world and chaos to society.

Let these believers in "the tree man" come down out of the trees and meet the issue. Let them defend the teaching of agnosticism or atheism if they dare. If they deny that the natural tendency of Darwinism is to lead many to a denial of God, let them frankly point out the portions of the Bible which they regard as consistent with Darwinism, or evolution applied to man. They weaken faith in God, discourage prayer, raise doubts as to a future life, reduce Christ to the stature of a man, and make the Bible a "scrap of paper." As religion is the only basis of morals it is time for Christians to protect religion from its most insidious enemy.

Students' Convention Ends; Notable Speakers Heard

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 10.—The Eleventh World Convention of the World Students Christian Federation held at Tsinghua College was adjourned following a closing message by Dr. David Yui. Mme. Bidgrain of Switzerland and Mr. A. A. Paul of India also spoke.

The Chinese body of the world-wide organisation, which already leads in number of active secretaries employed and in the volume and scope of student literature put out, decided, upon the last day of the Conference, to take the lead in an additional line of endeavor, that of the war against illiteracy. A Chinese Students' Promotion Committee was organised which will supervise the opening of free schools for illiterates by Christian Students throughout the twenty-one provinces of China. These schools will limit their work to the teaching of the new system of Chinese phonetic writing, as improved by Mr. James Yen, of the Chinese Y. M. C. A.

The conference, although emphasising as have done previous conferences, that the fundamental objects of the world-wide association of Christian Students is to bring students into personal touch with spiritual realities and to recruit workers for religious and idealistic service, has taken a decided social and political turn, in the sense that all the more prominent speakers have expressed their conviction that the present social order and political economy can no longer be tolerated and out of the present student world must emerge the leaders of a new system.

Among the notable addresses given was that of Professor Hans Koch, of the University of Copenhagen, who pointed out, while speaking on the subject of Christianity and the Modern Industrial Conflict, that while capitalists had claimed that without competition life would lose its vitality, they had, contrary to this claim, sought to organise "Trusts" whose object is to do away with competition.

Professor Koch expressed belief that the present division of society into poor and rich, and the unequal distribution of the fruits of production, would, unless changed, bring about a class conflict more disastrous than any race conflict yet experienced.

Most conservative was the speech of Dr. George Michaelis, for short time Premier of Germany under the Republic. Dr. Michaelis referred to his experience as Minister of Food during the War. He had to organise the distribution of food somewhat along communistic lines, and therefore professed to have had opportunity to observe from the inside the evils of both the capitalistic and communistic systems. He urged the establishment of a co-operative economic system which would be Christian in principle, that would give to the worker certain rights whereby he would receive sufficient for his labor, and be protected against the evils of unemployment and sickness.

Dr. Michaelis, while professing to be "socially minded," disclaimed the title of "socialist," in the accepted sense. He does not feel that the evil of unemployment is sufficient cause for so radical a step as the abolition of wages. Sick aid he ranks as a right, rather than a claim on charity. He would not abolish, but would limit, private ownership, both in the case of the living and the dead. He would leave to owners considerable leeway in the use of their heritage and the exploitation thereof, but believes in the right of the community to share in the benefits of accumulated capital. The ideal system he designates as "co-operative-economic." In this system the emphasis must be upon common welfare rather than struggle for fortune.

The speech of this noted German economist and politician received great attention, inasmuch as it is believed to be the expression of the trend of thought of those who are endeavoring to get the good out of the Russian Bolshevist system, to which Germany is closest. It is also one of the first addresses to be delivered by a German scholar on a politico-social subject, to an audience outside of Germany, since the War. Dr. Michaelis is a member of the governing board of the German Christian students organisation.

The most prominent French speaker at the Conference was Professor Jean Monier, of the University of Strasburg, who spoke of "Jesus Christ and Culture." He showed that in spite of unsettled intellectual conditions, France still remains fundamentally religious, and her scientific men and scholars are inclining more and more toward emphasis on the spiritual existence. Dr. Monier digressed to point out the influence of Chinese classical and Confucian learning upon French literature.

The six-hundred Chinese host-delegates are rapidly dispersing to their homes in every province of the Republic, while most of the three-hundred visitors from every continent and nearly every country are visiting the principal cities and spots of interest in China before sailing for their homes.

Madame Kelvey's Pupils To Present Program April 29

A group of Shanghai's talented kiddies will be seen in a grand matinee performance at the Olympic Theater on April 29, at 5 p.m., when Madame Kelvey, teacher of dancing, presents her pupils in songs, artistic dances and novelty numbers. The performance will be given for the benefit of The Foreign Women's Home in Shanghai.

Madame Kelvey's classes in dancing have developed among the youngest generation in Shanghai several specimens of exquisite terpsichorean grace and not a few nimble baby-jazzers who cakewalk and clog with all the eclat of professionals and with more amusement for the audience, for their baby charm emphasises the contrast. The youngsters excel in toe dancing as well as in specialty numbers.

Japanese Halt Exports Of Silk

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 6.—The Fukui silk reelers have agreed to suspend production for sixteen days from the 16th instant, in order to improve the silk market.

Tokio, April 6.—The export of silk is practically suspended and many silk dealers have been compelled to close their factories for the time being, reports the Hochi. The same difficulty is being experienced by cotton cloth mills.

Railway Chief Asks "Through Traffic" Parley

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking April 10.—Mr. Liu Ching-shan, director general of the Government Railway Administration, has made a report urging another conference for through traffic improvement. The report mentions the fact that through traffic revenues of the Chines Railways has increased nearly $6,000,000 in three years. Among other things suggested are reduced rates for students and revision of freight rates. Indications are that Mr. Liu's suggestions will be adopted and the conference will be held within a short time. The through traffic revenue received in 1918 was $2,430,254 as against $8,038,272 in 1921, an increase considered due to the increased efficiency which resulted from the last traffic conference. The present system of checking was also accomplished at that conference.

Most of the improvements to be advocated by Mr. Liu in the coming conference are technical. He does suggest however that in view of the congestion at the ticket windows during train time, these windows should remain open throughout the day so that tickets may be purchased in advance. The freight rate scale according to Mr. Liu, is not altogether fair to shippers and it is desired to make certain readjustments.

It is proposed to give students a special rate when travelling to and from home during the winter and summer holidays. Hitherto students traveling in parties are entitled to reduced rates. But as students generally travel individually when returning home, it is proposed to provide reduced fares for such students.
